Received Given

Rev Amy Beltaine · 1st
Program Chair at Cherry Hill Seminary
November 8, 2024, Rev Amy was Pip's client

I rely on Pip's media knowledge and skills to edit videos for publication. He is easy and reliable to work with and is able to translate my wishes into reality, on time, and at good quality. He not only executed what I knew I needed, but also was able to supportively coach me toward more effective results. I highly recommend him for anyone needing marketing/media support.

Alison Davis · 1st
Lecturer in Journalism, College of Media, University of Illinois
September 13, 2024, Alison managed Pip directly

Pip is a highly motivated, detail-oriented professional with immense talent. He has the heart of a filmmaker and visual artist and strives for efficiency in productions. He is always willing to go the extra mile to make the best end product and is incapable of creating something that is not his best effort. I would highly recommend Pip for any aspect of video production, especially producing, shooting, and editing. Anyone would be lucky to have Pip on board!

community members to connect, have fun and learn about ONE Northside. ONE Northside is a mixed-income, multi-ethnic, intergenerational non-profit organization that builds collective power to eliminate injustice through grassroots community organizing. We organize people from over 100 institutions, as well as individual community residents, from Rogers Park, Edgewater, Uptown, Ravenswood, North Center, Lake View, and Lincoln Park. This was our first ONE Northside Block Party, to celebrate our 10th Anniversary, but now we think it will become an annual tradition!

A Classic Summertime Northside Block Party

Hundreds of people showed up for food, fun, and connection! ONE Northside is an organization that comes together based on our shared values of diversity, justice, leadership development and people power. We do that by coming together and spending quality time together.

Are you ready to take Bring Chicago Home over the finish line?

As a housing justice advocate, you know how long we've been fighting for Bring Chicago Home. And how much good this campaign can do in the lives of our unhoused neighbors.

We need your help now to convince voters in Chicago to vote YES for Bring Chicago Home on March 19th.

Here's where we need you:

Phone-Banking - reaches lots of voters

Phone-Banking is a great way to reach a lot of people in a short amount of

"What we are working to do is to make sure that regardless of your background, regardless of your income, that you can live a life of dignity and abundance," he said. "And that happens when you have a home that you can afford. ...And in a city that has what it needs to provide that, we're asking the organizations that continue to do very well to pay their fair share."

Grassroots leader on the housing justice team Anthony J. Perkins shared his own story of homelessness, and how after many years he had finally found an affordable apartment in Rogers Park. "In February I learned our rent would be going up $450 [per month]... I was horrified of being homeless again," he said. "We need the city to step up, start keeping promises, start housing people, and pass Bring Chicago Home."

Justice leader Mia Sostri shared her story of Trauma. They asked Alex to share his story of how he got into the profession of spending and how he got into the profession of reopening the public mental health system. He is a professional and an EM

Who We Are

ONE People's Campaign endorses and supports progressive candidates and policies that put the interests of regular people before the profits of corporations and the super rich. OPC organizes people who live on the front lines of the many crises plaguing our society in Chicago and Downstate Illinois.
